VANDALISM IN Earry.—The Egyptians are beginning to destroy the pyramids and ancient tombs, for the sake of building materials.

[Exchange paper.

If they were making pyramids and ancient tombs of dwelling-houses and workshops, we might well call it Vandalism; but we cannot apply this term to the right use of "building materials" by the Egyptians. This world is for the living, and not for the dead; and whatever ministers to the welfare and happiness of those who live, and those who are yet to live, merits a better name.

The monuments of Egypt had a meaning and significance, and perhaps in no manner can these be so well understood as by means of the researches that the labors of pulling down and excavating may enable learned men to make. Many of them have stood for thousands of years without revealing the story they were designed to perpetuate, and little knowledge need now be lost by their destruction. But the records that mason; Mr. Entwisle, painter; Mr. Suissy, may be made of them as they are, and as their analysis may reveal them, will live and be instructive to millions of people who may never see Egypt.

. The age of architectural monuments is past : we live in a more practical and more rational era of the world. Monuments of the past have outlived all remembrance of the things of which they were designed to be mementoes. The monuments of the present are the productions of the press-clear, lucid, and legible-and so universal that no calamity can destroy them that would not destroy all the marble columns of the world.

In ancient times an "Ebenezer" was reareda shaft of stone erected—as a record of the time, the place, the event, the name, to be known in future times; and it was to be but the aid of a verbal tradition. Neither verbal traditions nor their aids are longer needed, and monuments and cenotaphs should also pass away. They are but the senseless and servile imitations of things obsolete and useless-remembrancers of nothing not elsewhere recorded, except the folly and vanity of their builders.

In the Roman Catholic church, edifices for worship, schools for instruction, asylums for the destitute, bear the names of persons whose memory they would honor, and associate the names of the canonized with the beneficence of these institutions. This is practical and rational, and more effective than the inutile shafts and columns upon which were lavished the votive offerings of former ages.

Can others not thus progress, also, and give to institutions of public utility the names they would preserve in honored remembrance? Girard endowed a college, and its pupils will ever realize a sentiment of gratitude and honor for the man, and they will go forth into the world and diffuse the light of knowledge as a halo from his brow; and their children, from an elevated position in society, will know that, but for the benefaction of that eccentric man, ignorance and poverty had been their portion. The highest monument in the universe could not exalt the name of Girard to the pinnacle to which this story will elevate him.

Temples of religion and of science should be the monuments of the present era.

INTERMENT OF ARCHBISHOP ECCLESTON. This ceremony will take place in Baltimore tomorrow, (Saturday,) and will be attended by a large number of our citizens, who will go on by the cars leaving this city at 6 a. m. The fare for the day being reduced to $2 for the round trip, to return in the afternoon, we are requested to say that those who desire to unite therein will please hand in their names to Mr. J. F. Callan, corner of E and 7th streets, so as is of great interest to the community at large, to secure tickets.

FIRE!-About two o'clock this morning a shed in the rear of Farrar's Bowling Saloon, on the patronage of our citizens. Missouri avenue, near Sixth street, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was immediately given, but before the fire department could bring their apparatus to work effectively six buildings were consumed. The losers by this disaster are, Mr. Magruder, about $400; Mr. Farrar, $3,000, insured for $2,000; Mr. Burns, about $300; Mr. Morsell, about $1,200, insured for $700. Mr. Porter lost a small amount. sell was mostly saved. The fire was caused, it is supposed, by an incendiary. When the flames were first seen, by a gentleman residing back of the buildings, they were clambering up the outside of the building. A woman who lives in the alley states that she has seen a negro lurking about the place at a late hour for two or three nights. The fire companies were soon on the ground, and, owing to their exertions, the building occupied by Mr. Marshall as a coach depository was saved. If the fire had got much headway in that building, it would have been difficult to have saved any portion of the square.

LOST CHILD.-We learn that a boy, about five years old, was playing during most of yesterday near the Department of State, where the men are employed in taking down the fence and wall around that building. As nothing could be obtained from the child up to six o'clock last evening in regard to his home or name, he is supposed to be lost. Persons interested in obtaining further information, are referred to the bricklayer on the work.—Intel. of this morning.

This boy was found last evening, by Mr. Boothe, who delivered him up to officer Keese, and by him he was restored to his anxious mother.

Kossuth .- A letter from Constantinople, received by the Asia, says: "The Sultan has refused to accede to the demands of Austria to exclude M. Kossuth, and seven of his companions in exile, from the benefit of liberation, and the American Minister referred to Vienna for fresh instructions." A ray of hope thus gleams the Directors. upon us, and Kossuth may yet reach a land of liberty and safety.

THE HUGHES CASE .- The Circuit Court is still occupied with this case-Carlisle and Lawrence for the plaintiff, Davis; and Bradley, Kenly, and Davidge for the defendant. Of the whipping charged as being inflicted by the order of Col. Hughes, at Jalapa, we believe there is no denial, but its severity is denied; while the power of Col. Hughes, as military and civil governor, is contended for, and the deserts of the many of the habits and tastes of Paris. plaintiff are also alleged.

More City Improvements .- We learn that the lot on the corner of 19th street and Penn- To the Editors of the American Telegraph. sylvania avenue, formerly occupied by Weatherby & Bates' drug store, which was burned down some three years ago, has been purchased by handsome block of stores. The pile of ruins on that corner has long been an eye-sore to the good people of the First Ward, and they will be glad to learn that its appearance is to be changed.

DRAMATIC .- The Young Men's Dramatic Association of Georgetown gave an interesting exhibition of their theatrical acquirements, at Fayette Hall, in that place. The "Golden Farmer" and "His last Legs" were admirably performed. The characters of Jemmy Twitcher, Harry Hammer, Felix O'Callaghan, and Rivers, were sustained equally as well as by some of the performers at our best theatres.

New Houses. - Commodore Shubrick has erected a beautiful dwelling-house on H street between sixteenth and seventeenth streets. Mr. Entwisle is the carpenter; Mr. Langley, brickplasterer. The building is one of the largest in the city. There are two more going up on the same square, of nearly the same size and

Our enterprising citizen, Matthew Duffy, has just completed for himself one of the handsomest cottages we have ever seen. It is on I street near Seventeenth street. The style is nearly like the Swiss; it is very convenient, containing nine rooms, all well ventilated and comfortable. It is really an ornament to that part of the city, and does not displease the eye by any surperfluous adornments.

The dwelling-house occupied by the late Mrs. Madison is being enlarged.

Workmen are busy in preparing the timbers, &c., for the new steeple to St. Matthew's church. This work will be pushed on vigorously, and when done will add greatly to the beauty of the edifice.

A SINGULAR CIRCUMSTANCE.-This morning number of persons assembled at a house bevond the late residence of Colonel Burche, in the suburbs of Washington, to bear to the grave the corpse of a poor Irish woman, who died on the day before yesterday. Some of these people, however, suggested a doubt of the death of the woman, and opposed her burial; whereupon Dr. McKnight was applied to for advice. He visited the house, and, upon examination, declared himself unable to decide whether death had actually taken place or not. The people, however, determined to place the body in a vault, and to keep watchers by it until assured of the commencement of decomposition.

LATER FROM HAVANA. Arrival of the Ohio with $600,000 in Gold dust failed to reach us in time for press.

Rumors of Invasion. The United States mail steamship Ohio, Cap tain Schenck commanding, arrived this morning from New Orleans and Havana. The Ohio crossed the bar (at the Balize) at four and half, p. m., on the 16th instant, and arrived at Havana at four, p. m., on the 18th-making the passage in forty-seven hours and a half The steamer Falcon sailed from New Orleans on the 18th, and the Georgia for Chagres or the 19th.

The most intense excitement prevails at Havana with regard to another invasion, and so confidently is it expected, that the troops for the past week have been ordered to sleep on their arms, and be ready for marching at a moment's warning. The vessels of war in porthave been ordered to be ready for action. It was currently reported in Havana, and generally believed, that the cause of the detention of the Ohio on her present trip from New Orleans to Havana was to bring out an invading force, and so great was the excitement on her arrival that hundreds of people were waiting on the mole to catch a sight of the expected troops. But, apparently, great was their disappointment, as she passed along quietly as usual to her moor-ings, without the least demonstration of hosings, without the least demonstration of hos-tility towards the timid Habaneros. The Ohio left Havana on the 19th. She brings 200 passengers, $600,000 in gold dust, and $20,000 in specie on freight.

AMERICAN STEAMERS AT HAVANA-RUMORS AND RENCONTRES.—Havana, April 18.—Messrs. Greeley & McElrath: The steamers Falcon and which entered port within a few minutes of each other, on the morning of the 17th, from Chagres and New York, have been somewhat incommoded the past night, in not being permitted to transfer provisions from one ves-sel to the other. Two of their boats were seized last night, in the contraband intercourse with each other, but have been released this morning, after taking an inventory of the duty-payable goods on board, with the understanding that Drake, Brothers & Co. would pay up the fine that would be imposed. I should mention the report made by passengers on board of the Falcon, in relation to the call made upon her, off the coast of Cuba, by a Spanish steamer of war, to show her flag, pre ceded by two shotted discharges across her bows. The Falcon being as well known to all who wear the Spanish naval button as any old dragon that has haunted these waters for years, paid no attention to the demand so made, but loaded her pieces to prepare to receive boats, should they be sent to board her. She probably displayed her colors.

Spanish brig Lola arrived yesterday about 11 o'clock, bound from New Orleans to Barcelona, called (three days from the Balize) to report to the Captain-General that when she came out of the Mississippi, having left the city f New Orleans two days subsequent to the Ohio, she left that steamer at anchor in the mouth of the river; and the inference obtains that she was there to receive pirates on board. The captain will not win his ribbon this time for his gratuitous labor of loyalty, for a few moments after the interview with the authorities the Ohio was telegraphed from the Moro.

RUMORED CUBAN EXPEDITION FROM THIS PORT.—The U. S. Marsha intelligence that a packet ship had been char-tered by certain individuals interested in the invasion of Cuba, and secretly fitted out with implements of war, and taken down the bay. where she was anchored, awaiting the arrival of several hundred men. The Marshal had the steamer John Bell chartered, and kept in readiness at Pier No. 1, North river. In the mean time, Mr. Tallmadge called upon the Chief of Police to furnish a force of his men to aid and assist the United States authorities. All arrangements being consummated, they boarded the steamer John Bell, which steamed towards Governor's Island, but turned up the East river, and went alongside of a U.S. revenue cutter which was made fast, and sailed down the bay in search of the craft suspected. The Marshal and his force remained down the bay until this morning, to watch the vessel and such persons as were expected to be conveyed to the craft at different hours of the night.

BOAT RACE-JENNY LIND .- Wheeling, April 23.—The steamboat race between the Pittsburg and Cincinnati packets "Buckeye State" and "Messenger," came off to-day. They started from Cincinnati at 10 o'clock and 40 minutes this morning, the Messenger taking the start lengths ahead of the Buckeye. At Maysville the Buckeye was 20 minutes ahead of the Messenger, at Portsmouth 41 minutes ahead, at Gallipolis 1 hour and 24 minutes ahead, and at Pomeroy she was 1 hour and 35 minutes ahead.
